"The fair and sometimes uncertain daughter of the house of Milbrey"

THIS is a bright, spirited, brilliant story of men and women of to-day, of America East and West, of the people of the mining camps and the gay society of the metropolis. The author has drawn a wonderfully vivid picture of conditions social and commercial, as they exist, especially of the life in New York. Percival Bines, the central figure, Avice Milbrey, the type of America's most stalwart girl, and "Uncle Peter," of the first generation, are characters naturally so interesting and typical and so finely delineated that the story, with due reservation, is predicted to be the novel of 1902. It has all the elements required.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY, BOSTON

A NOVEL BY BRAND WHITLOCK

A critic, says: "It is the Real Thing. As a political novel it is, in my opinion, far better than 'The Honorable Peter Sterling.'"

"Speaking of politics as it is really played—that good old hide-and-go-seek game that the men 'inside' know—well, it's here. 'The 13th District' is the real thing, and when Brand Whitlock put what he knew and had seen into his book, he put it in without any varnish."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

"Such a clever portrayal of practical politics—the kind the politicians recognize as their own—has never before been put into a novel. Garwood, the 'Singed Cat,' and Rankin all have prototypes, indeed we recognize all the men. And Rankin—one of these days people will get to say that this or that politician is a regular 'Jimrankin.' It will be a compliment worth treasuring."—Chicago American.

It is an intensely realistic revelation of the essence and quality of average American politics. It is a noble woman that lifts up the candidate when he is fallen, and the author leaves a vision of her, cheerful and hopefully looking into the picture."—Minneapolis Journal.

"Brand Whitlock's story of a candidate—'The 13th District'—is destined to become one of the books of our time. Garwood is an everyday man—a man led to his ruin in the game of politics. Emily Garwood, the wife, and Mrs. Garwood, the mother of the candidate, are characters beautifully drawn. The story is truthfully told; the descriptions are excellent and vivid; and all in all, it is a book that holds the reader to the last chapter and leaves him thinking."—Davenport Times.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE POPULAR PUBLISHING COMPANY, of New York, is about to issue a humorous book entitled "Stag Yarns," collected and arranged by a member of a "swell" New York club.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on June 2 Bliss Carman's "Ode on the Coronation of King Edward," attractively gotten up, printed in red and black, with specially designed initials.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish June 17 "Abner Daniel," by Will N. Harben, described as a Southern "David Harum" story; also, "Tales of Destiny," by Elizabeth G. Jordan, a collection of ten stories, with original plots, well worked out.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY will publish on the 28th inst. Michael Davitt's history of "The Boer Fight for Freedom." The author went to Africa during the heat of the early fighting in the Transvaal to gather his material. He became intimately acquainted with the prominent Boer leaders, and witnessed many of the engagements described. The volume contains upwards of 100 illustrations and seven maps.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY publish this week a volume entitled "East of the Barrier, or, Manchuria in Miniature," a book on a part of China outside of the wall of which scarcely anything has been written, and of which very little is known. They will publish in a week or two a timely novel entitled "Those Black Diamond Men," a story of the anthracite coal region, by William F. Gibbons, who speaks from a long experience among the coal miners of Pennsylvania.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish shortly the second series of "Home Thoughts." The first series, issued last year, were skilfully held together by a slender thread of progression; the second series also have the connecting link of their close relation to family life and the eternal vigilance with which men and women strive to build their homes and rear their children. They belong to the years of life's most strenuous activity. Those who have read the first volume will be interested to know that the author's name will appear on the title-page of the new book.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish shortly a witty, clever story, but having more than a single serious underlying vein of thought, in Cranston Metcalfe's "Fame for a Woman." The story deals with literary life in London, which the author, as the business associate of Mr. Colles, the well-known literary agent, has ample means of studying. They have also nearly ready "The Days of the Son of Man," by Mrs. D. L. Rhone, a story of the Holy Land in the first century. The point of view is Syrian and Oriental rather than Christian, Roman or Jewish, the author's aim being to look at Jesus through the eyes of his contemporaries.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on the 29th inst. Clara Morris's new book, "A Pasteboard Crown," a story of the New York stage, with a frontispiece, in colors, by H. C. Christy. As already announced, they will publish on the 2d of July a new book by Richard Harding Davis. The title is to be "Ransom's Folly," and the book is to contain two novelettes—"Ransom's Folly" and "In the Fog"—and three short stories—"The Bar Sinister," "The Derelict," and "La Lettre d'Amour." The text will be sumptuously gotten up and will be illustrated by Frederic Remington, Frederic Dorr Steele, E. M. Ashe, Walter Appleton Clark and Howard Chandler Christy. An especially attractive cover will have a design by Frederic Remington. As a whole, the book is believed by the publishers to be the best collection ever published of Mr. Davis's best work.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: Joan; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tr. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq. obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

The fourth volume in the series. While not departing from the plan of its predecessors in essentials, the year book for 1901 has aimed at a greater degree of condensation, and to this end has altered somewhat the method of treatment in the articles on the States of the United States. Certain classes of statistical matter formerly given under the separate States have been tabulated under general heads. The space thus gained has made it possible to include in the articles on States an account of the progress of industries, based on the Census Reports on manufactures, most of which were published in 1901, and to notice the great body of State legislation. The list of contributors embraces leading experts in all branches of science, literature, religion, etc.

Contains substantially all the serious verse written by Mr. Johnson during the past twenty years. The contents of his previous books, "The winter hour, and other poems" (1892) and "Songs of liberty, and other poems" (1897), constitute about two-thirds of the volume, the other third containing verse which has not before appeared in book form.

Jones, W: Carey. Illustrated history of the University of California, 1868-1901. Rev. ed. Berkeley, Cal., Berkeley Book Store, 1901. c. 430 p. il. por. F. cl., $5.

The history of the university is treated in reference to all its stages, incidents and vicissitudes, from the germ idea in the establishment of the old College School, in Oakland, through the struggles of the College of California, its fortunate connection with the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, the organization of the university, its early perils and obstacles, its gradual broadening and strengthening, up to its present realized position of one of the great and leading universities of the country. Every department and college of the university is treated with thoroughness and impartiality. An historical résumé of their development with a complete exposition of their present scope and facilities is given.

The translator claims no more for his translations than that they are a tolerably faithful rendering of the original poems of Schiller. His object has been to reproduce not only Schiller's thoughts, but Schiller's method of describing those thoughts, as accurately as was consistent with a change of language and the exigencies of verse.
- Searching for truth. N. Y., P: Eckler, 1902. c. 2-579 p. O. cl., $1.50.
"With no intent to destroy," the unknown author says, "what may be worthy, or to unnecessarily offend, this volume is dedicated to the aggressively progressive of this world, in the hope that it may prove useful as ammunition for their combat with defiant conventionalism and obstinate conservatism." Arranged in paragraphs are brief arguments, often quoted, often original, aiming to demolish the various religious doctrines of the world. They are embraced in chapters headed: Was Christ divine?; Christian morality; The impracticability of Christianity, etc.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BEAVERTON, MICH.—A. E. Holly, of Saginaw, has opened a book, stationery and notion store here.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Justice Kenefick, in special term of the Supreme Court, has granted an order appointing W. L. Annis as referee to go over the accounts of Simon Fleischmann, receiver for Peter Paul & Co., and it is expected that as soon as the referee can examine the accounts the final order of confirmation will be granted.

CLEVELAND, O.—Gepfert & Crummel have purchased the entire stock of books, stationery and art goods formerly owned by the Helman-Taylor Company. They will continue the business at 23 to 27 Euclid Avenue.

DECATUR, ILL.—J. E. Saxton's bookstore was closed on May 6 by the sheriff on an execution issued at the instance of the Citizens' National Bank on a judgment note for $1050. The estimated value of the stock is $5000.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Abbey Press has been incorporated, with principal office at 525 Main Street, East Orange, N. J. Capital, $1,000,000. Object, printing and publishing. Incorporators: Alfred G. Brown, Henry Kingsbury, Frank R. Serles.

NEW YORK CITY.—D. Appleton & Co. will remove within a month to 436 and 438 Fifth Avenue, near Thirty-eighth Street. This will place the Appletons at the head of the procession of the publishing houses moving northward, closely followed by Dodd, Mead & Co.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The John C. Winston Company has purchased the old Arch Street Presbyterian Church. On that site, at Nos. 1006 to 1016 Arch Street, the company will erect a new publication building eight stories in height. The old church which is to be torn away—of red brick with a wooden spire—is one of the oldest houses of worship belonging to the Presbyterian denomination in this city.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 24, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

USE AND ABUSE OF THE "BOOKS WANTED" DEPARTMENT.

We have before us an accumulation of letters from subscribers to THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY regarding the use and abuse of our "Books Wanted" columns, which lead us to take occasion once more to give a word of advice and caution to those "whom it may concern." In answering wants some booksellers, while particular to give the price, almost invariably omit mention of date, edition and condition. In many cases, in scientific books invariably, the edition is of first importance; in other cases, the latest edition is not the one wanted; hence, the one who is particular to give date and edition, provided the price is right, will be likely to get the order.

The condition of a book is of next importance. If the book be rare, sometimes even an imperfect copy will be desirable. In every case the condition should be exactly described, missing or mutilated pages reported, water stains or other blemishes and imperfections in binding conscientiously reported. Some books may be acceptable in any condition, others in none but immaculate and absolutely complete state.

One of our correspondents recently received three quotations in reply to one want, none of which stated date, edition or condition, although in this case date and edition were absolutely necessary, and the condition of some consideration. As four other correspondents make similar complaints, negligence in this respect seems to have become chronic. Failure to report on these particulars is apt to lay the dealer open to the suspicion either that he has something to conceal, or that he doesn't know his business. In either case he is an unsatisfactory person to deal with, and so we imagine that both the "foxy" and the ignorant bidder will look in vain for orders through these columns.

Another failing to which we wish to draw attention is the practice of many dealers when answering wants to "boost" their prices one to two hundred per cent. above the price for which they would sell the same book or magazine to a chance customer in their store. These dealers forget that an inquiry does not always imply a necessity. A bookseller may have an inquiry for a book temporarily out of print, but of which he has reason to suppose dealers in other parts of the country may have a surplus. How manifestly silly it is for a bookseller under such circumstances to "swell" the price, it should be needless to point out. Yet, as a matter of fact, it has been done time and again—with no profit to the bidder. A short time ago a correspondent asked for a certain book of which a new edition is issued at stated intervals; the latest edition bringing the subject up to date and containing much new matter, was published in 1901 for $3.50; notwithstanding this, a dealer, who ought to know better, offered an 1873 edition for $4. Three other dealers offered the book in various editions at $2 down to fifty cents—the latter price being about a fair equivalent for a perfect copy of an old edition, containing all the plates and diagrams. Such lack of judgment in quoting prices to the trade or book collectors is most reprehensible.

Another abuse of the "Books Wanted" column is the persistent fishing for values indulged in by some dealers who are either too lazy to consult the necessary sources of information, or too stingy to acquire the needed catalogues and records of auction prices. No man can know everything about his business. When he has exhausted every possible source for gaining information it would be more honest to ask outright some one who may happen to know. It would not lower the inquirer in the estimation of his colleague; but an endeavor to get the same information by a roundabout method might put him at a disadvantage that in time might result in serious loss.

It should always be borne in mind that the department of "Books Wanted" is an accommodation that will be of mutual benefit or disadvantage as it is properly used or abused.

DENTON'S "BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF NEW YORK."

By FELIX NEUMANN, of the Library of Congress.

"Bibliography is the biography of books."—John Ferguson's "Some Aspects of Bibliography."

In the middle of November, 1900, there was sold at auction in London by Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, a part of the library of Lord Ashburton* that was especially rich in scarce and unique books, and the sale attracted, therefore, considerable interest among book collectors. The highest bid reached—£400, or $2000—during the sale, which lasted four days, was for a tract of only twenty-one pages text, i.e., (the title is given abbreviated,) "Daniel Denton's brief description of New York, formerly called New Netherlands," London, 1670.

This pamphlet is always considered by connoisseurs, and with good reason, as one of the most sought after Americana, not only as it seems to be the first printed relation of New York in English, but also on account of its excessive rarity.

Denton's description has been twice reprinted, and, curiously enough, the two reprints happened to appear in the same year. The first reprint was issued in No. 1 of the "Proceedings of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania," Philadelphia, March, 1845,† with a very brief introduction by John Pennington.

The second forms v. 1 of "Gowans's Bibliotheca Americana," (††), published in New York, 1845, with introduction and notes by Gabriel Furman. There is also a third partial reprint in the "Library of American Literature," (‡) edited by E. C. Stedman and E. M. Hutchinson, Vol. 1, pages 419-426.

I have been able to trace, of the original, up to date, the following copies:

|| Auction Sale Catalogue of valuable Books and Manuscripts, including selections from the libraries of William Radford, Sir Charles Locock and others, sold by Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, London, February 25-March 2.

- 1 copy in Harvard College Library, Cambridge, Mass.
- 1 copy in the New York State Library, Albany, N. Y.
- 1 copy in the Library of Col. Thos. Aspinwall, U. S. Consul at London.
- 2 copies in the John Carter Brown Library, Providence, R. I.
- 1 copy in the Library of Edward E. Ayer, Chicago, Ill.
- 1 copy in the Lenox Library, New York City.
- 1 copy in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.
- 1 copy in Columbia College Library, New York City. (Found bound with other pamphlets.)
- 1 copy in the Library of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, N. Y.

That is, twenty-four copies in all, making due allowance for those which I have recorded as having changed hands. But this number may be still farther reduced, supposing that one or more of the copies sold at auction or mentioned in sales catalogues found its way to one of the above mentioned libraries.

No exhaustive paper on Denton's pamphlet has yet been written, if I except Gabriel Furman's introduction to Gowans's reprint, who copies literally and without giving the source, the short introductory notice by John Pennington in the reprint of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Considering the growing interest in American bibliography, and also in view of the fact that both reprints—Gowans's, of which only 104 copies were made, and that in the Pennsylvania Historical Society, which was only printed for the members of the Society, are entirely out of print—I think it a timely undertaking to reissue the original, giving the title-page in facsimile.*

I shall first touch briefly upon the commercial history of the work, which will illustrate a remarkable change of prices, but keeping pace with the growing knowledge of books and bibliography in the last century.

As already stated, the first copy—as far as I could find—mentioned in any sale catalogue, is that in Evans's "Auction Catalogue of the Library of George Nassau," London, 1824. This copy was sold, according to a notice in Lowndes's "Bibliographical Manual of English Literature," (†) for 18 shillings.

The second copy for sale is mentioned in O. Rich's "Catalogue of Books Relating to America," London, 1832, and is marked £1 12s.

The third copy is mentioned in Evans's "Auction Catalogue of the Library of Richard Heber," but I was unable to discover at what price it was sold, as even Lowndes overlooked the sale of this copy entirely.

The fourth copy mentioned, 1846, in the "Auction Sale Catalogue of the Library of Gabriel Furman," was sold for $31.‡

* This reprint, with this paper as introduction, will be issued by The Burrows Brothers Company in Cleveland.

† Lowndes, William Thomas. The Bibliographer's Manual of English Literature. New edition. Vol. II., page 631. London, Bell & Daldy, 1869.

‡ William Gowans mentions this copy in his catalogue No. 5. Offering his reprint of 1845, he says: "A copy of the original was lately sold at a public sale in this city for $31"—with three exclamation points after the price.

The copy mentioned in Stevens's "Historical Nuggets," 1862, was offered for $52.50.

The copy belonging to Mr. William Menzies, which was sold in 1875 to the Library of Congress, brought $220, and Joseph Sabin, who prepared the catalogue of the sale, adds: "The compiler of this catalogue has sold but one copy of this work, for which he obtained $275, and for which the present owner has since refused an offer of $400."

The copy in the library of Henry C. Murphy, sold in 1884 for $80.

The copy in the library of Mr. George Brinley, which was sold in 1880, fetched $385.

The copy of Mr. Samuel L. M. Barlow, originally belonging to Col. Thos. Aspinwall, came on the market in 1889, and was sold for $525 to Mr. Brayton Ives. This copy made a small advance in 1891, when Brayton Ives's library was sold, realizing $615.

Then comes the copy of the Ashburton library, sold November, 1900, which realized $2000, while the copy sold by the same auctioneers on February 26, 1901, only three months later, brought only £75, or $375.

The copy offered by Dodd, Mead & Co., in their Catalogue No. 60, May, 1901 (formerly owned by Aspinwall-Barlow-Ives), is priced at $2000, the amount realized by the Ashburton copy.

Such a remarkable rise and decline in price, needs an explanation, and this brings me to the bibliographical part of my researches.

The collation and the title in full, with the imprint, is: Title page, reverse blank—"To the reader," two pages—text, 21 pages. The title, copied from the copy in the Library of Congress, reads as follows:

A | Brief Description | of | New York | Formerly Called | New Netherlands. | With the Places thereunto Adjoyning. | Together with the | Manner of its Scituation, Fertility of the Soyle, | Healthfulness of the Climate, and the | Commodities thence produced. | Also | Some Directions and Advice to such as shall go | thither An Account of what Commodities they shall | take with them; The Profit and Pleasure that | may accrue to them thereby. | Likewise | A Brief Relation of the Customs of the | Indians there. | By Daniel Denton. | London | Printed for John Hancock, at the first Shop in Popes-Head Alley in | Cornhill at the three Bibles, and William Bradley at the three Bibles | in the Minories. 1670. |

This title-page agrees exactly with the description given by Sabin, to which Sabin adds the following note: "The title-page being printed on paper, larger than the rest of the book, the date is often cut off by the binder."

This is the salient point; and if it can be proved to be founded on facts, will furnish the clue as to why the book is so singularly interesting to bibliographers and to book collectors.

First let us see how many copies are intact and have the full imprint, and how many have the imprint incomplete and the date cut off.

A. COPIES MENTIONED IN AUCTION SALE AND SECOND-HAND CATALOGUES.

Whether the copy in the library of George Nassau, sold by Evans, London, 1824, had the imprint or not, it is impossible to judge from the catalogue; auction sale catalogues at that time not being as carefully compiled as at the present, while even those now issued leave much to be desired. The same may be said of the copy mentioned in O. Rich's "Catalogue relating principally to America," 1832.

The copy which belonged to Richard Heber and was sold by Evans, May 30, 1835, is the first copy mentioned as having "the date cut off."

The copy from which Gowans's reprint was taken, New York, 1845, and mentioned as recently imported, had no date, or the reprint would have shown it. This copy is evidently identical with the copy in the auction sale catalogue of the library of Gabriel Furman and needs therefore no explanation.

The copy offered by Henry Stevens in his "Historical Nuggets" had not the date on it, and I cannot say anything regarding the imprint.

The copy given in Sabin was in the possession of John F. McCoy, and Sabin says, "The only copy we have seen with the date not cut off belongs to John F. McCoy, whose copy is uncut and measures eight by six inches."

The copy in the library of Mr. Menzies, sold 1875 to the Library of Congress, had not the date, as Mr. Sabin, who prepared the catalogue for the auction sale, makes the following note: "In this copy the date has been restored in most exact facsimile by Mr. Harris of London."

The date and the printer's name are entirely missing on the copy in the library of George Brinley, sold 1880. The compiler of the auction sale catalogue says, "The date and printer's name have, as in most copies, been trimmed off by the binder from the over-large title page."

The same is the case with the copy belonging to Mr. Henry C. Murphy, sold 1884. The compiler of the auction sale catalogue of this library makes the following remark: "The lower part of the title after the word London, cut off, as is the case with almost all copies."

These two copies are the most imperfect ones.

The copy of S. L. M. Barlow, originally belonging as already stated, to Col. Thos. Aspinwall, and sold 1889, is identical with the copy in the library of Mr. Brayton Ives, to whom it was sold. This copy was sold again, 1891, and is now offered for sale by Dodd, Mead & Co., New York, and is entirely perfect. Mr. Brayton Ives gives in his catalogue the following note: "As a bibliographical rarity this copy is, in one respect, almost unique: It is believed to be the only one in this country which has the printed date. The title-page was printed on such a large scale that the date at the bottom of it was uniformly cut off by the binder. The date was so rare, that Gowans, the veteran collector and dealer had not seen a copy with it, and omitted it in his reprint of the book. The present copy is perfect and all that could be desired in every respect. It has very wide margins and is unusually clean throughout."

Lord Ashburton's copy, sold November, 1900, was unbound and had the full imprint with the date. This was sold, according to the notice in the London Publisher's Circular, December 8, 1900, to the London bookseller, Henry C. Nattali, who bought it for a customer in the United States, whose name I have not learned.

The copy sold in February, 1901, was also unbound, but "date cut off bottom of title-page." (Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, Catalogue, February, 1901, p. 46.)

B. COPIES IN LIBRARIES.

According to the catalogue of the British Museum, the three copies in that institution show no date on the title-page.

The copy of the Harvard College Library, which has been there since October, 1830, according to the information of the Assistant Librarian, Mr. Tillinghast, has the date cut off, so the last line of the copy reads "Cornhill . . . William Bradley, at the three Bibles." The date 1670, so Mr. Tillinghast informs me, has been inserted in ink.

The copy which has been in the New York State Library since 1833, has the last line of the imprint, including the date and part of the preceding line cut off. I am indebted for this information to the Reference Librarian, Mr. J. T. Jennings.

The John Carter Brown Library in Providence has two copies, both of which, according to the printed catalogue prepared by John Russell Bartlett, seem to have the full imprint, one of which is variant. I say "seem to have the full imprint." I will not now enter into particulars regarding these two copies, but will deal with them later.

The copy in the Library of Congress, which was previously owned by Mr. William Menzies, has the last line "in the Minories, 1670" cut off, which was restored in facsimile by Mr. Harris of London.

The copy belonging to Mr. Edward E. Ayer, Chicago, has also the last line "in the Minories, 1670" cut off.

The copy in the Columbia College Library is perfect in every respect.

The copy in the Lenox Library, bought by Mr. Lenox about fifty years ago, has the imprint, but lacks the words "In the Minories 1670" which have been cut off. I owe this information to Mr. Wilberforce Eames.

The copy in the library of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, has been there since 1889, and is perfect, as I am kindly informed by the Librarian of the Society, Miss Emma Toedteberg.

[To be concluded.]

CHEAP PUBLISHING..

AN immense publishing business, according to the New York Sun, is run by a missionary society of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and managed at a cost that is almost infinitesimal compared with the work done. Last year the Board issued from its presses in China, Persia, Syria, Mexico, Siam, and Taos more than 96,000,000 pages of printed matter at a cost to the board of only $6500, that is only seven-one-hundred-thousandths of a cent a page. From its Beirut press the board has issued 675,000,000 pages of religious matter, principally in Arabic.

UNITED BRETHREN PUBLISHING HOUSE.

THE annual session of the trustees of the United Brethren Publishing House of the United States was held at Dayton, Ohio, last month. In some respects heavy losses were noted in the publishing department. Despite the losses, however, the house made large profits and donated $11,750 to annual conferences and churches.

There has been a large increase in the outstanding accounts of the house, the same amounting to $39,355.90 April 1 last. During the year new machinery for the press and bindery departments has been added, and $10,000 was expended. About $4000 was contributed as "subsidies" for different purposes in compliance with orders from the general conference, while a large sum was devoted to litigation expenses. Despite the drains the net assets of the institution were increased by $11,797.22. The capital stock was increased from $303,179.99 to $314,977.21, notwithstanding that the usual 10 per cent. reduction for "wear and tear" was made on type, fixtures and machinery, amounting to $10,000. The editorial force was commended for its competent management of seventeen publications.

ASSOCIATION OF PUBLISHERS OF CHRISTMAS CARDS.

THE English publishers of private Christmas greeting cards have formed an association for the protection of the retail dealers. According to the rules, no publisher will deal with any retailer not a member of the Newsagents', Booksellers' and Stationers' National Union; no publisher or wholesaler will allow to a retailer more than 33 1/3 per cent. off the list or marked prices, except on quantities of 200 or more cards of the same design. Retailers are enjoined from dealing with publishers not in the association. Transgression of the rules is punished with expulsion and withdrawal of sample-books. Adolph Tuck, of Raphael Tuck & Sons, Ltd., is president; W. McKenzie, of W. McKenzie & Co., vice-president; G. Delgado, treasurer; and Rivington & Co., 1 Fenchurch Street, London, E. C., solicitors and secretary. Thirty-nine firms have already joined the association.

A LAND OF PROMISE FOR AUTHORS.

A LITTLE while ago the New York Sun had an account of a case of "Sweatshop Publishing" in England, which we reprinted in our issue for April 12. Last week it discovered the other extreme in this country, in the case of a young authoress of wide and mildly sensational reputation. "This young woman," according to the Sun, "is now finishing a fourth novel, which will probably appear late this fall or early next spring. For the serial rights of this her representative is asking $250 per thousand words; that is, twenty-five cents a word. No guarantee of quality goes with this proposition. The manuscript is not submitted. It must be bought, if at all, as the urchin swaps his dilapidated knife 'unsight'-unseen.' And the $25,000 or more asked represents, be it remembered, the serial rights alone. It is said that her offer of the book rights, submitted to one of the long-established publishing houses, was the most astonishing proposition ever presented to that firm. When the head of the house came out of his daze sufficiently to figure on results, he found that, if he paid the royalty demanded (a large part of it in advance) the sale of 100,000 copies would still leave him considerably out of pocket. At the present writing the book is not sold. Rumor has it, however, that nearly twenty cents per word has been offered for the serial rights. One of the novels which is at present having a good run was bought outright (an unusual proceeding nowadays, as most authors prefer to take royalties,) for $50,000. Such figures as these would seem to constitute America the golden land of promise for authors, and should inspire Mr. Corvo to forego his five-dollar-a-week history-mill job and sail on the next steamer if he has to come in the steerage."

BOOKSELLERS OF THE JOHNSONIAN ERA.

MR. EDWARD MARSTON has followed his delightful volume of "Sketches of Booksellers of Other Days," published last year, with another equally charming volume of "Sketches of Some Booksellers of the Time of Doctor Johnson,"* a "golden age" for the English booktrade. The period covered is, roughly speaking, from 1670 to 1770, though some of the booksellers described were born earlier and others died later than the two dates named. The book very properly begins with an account of Michael Johnson, the father of Doctor Samuel Johnson, whose house is now the property of the city of Lichfield and occupied as a Johnson Museum and Library. The elder Johnson's business was chiefly that of a bookseller and stationer, though a few books were printed for him. Mr. Marston was able to discover only two—J. Bradley's "Impartial View of the Truth of Christianity," (1699,) and John Floyer's "Exposition of the Revelations," (1719.) Johnson travelled about from town to town with a stock of books, which he sold at auction. In one of his catalogues he offers choice books, in all faculties, including shop-books, pocket-books, etc.; also, French prints for staircases and large chimney pieces, and maps large and small. Further on he explains that the reader "must not wonder that I begin every day's sale with small and common books; the reason is, a room is some time a filling; and persons of address and business seldom coming first, they are entertainment till we are full; they are never the last books of the best kind of that sort, for ordinary families and young persons. But in the body of the catalogue you will find law, mathematics," etc. Michael Johnson died in 1731, at the age of seventy-six, his business being continued by his widow. Andrew Millar, chief shareholder in Johnson's Dictionary, is next described. Thomas Davies, of whom it was said that he was "not a bookseller, but a gentleman who dealt in books," an intimate friend of Johnson's, notwithstanding that he said the doctor "laughed like a rhinoceros," is the third in the list. Then follow Thomas Osborne, whom Doctor Johnson knocked down with a huge folio, and placing his foot upon his breast said: "Lie there, thou son of dulness, ignorance and obscurity;" Bernard Lintot and his son Henry, the predecessors of Samuel Richardson, and publishers of the works of Pope, who ridiculed the former charmingly in a famous letter to the Earl of Burlington and more savagely in the "Dunciad;" Robert Dodsley, stocking-weaver, footman, poet, dramatist and publisher, and his brother and successor, James Dodsley; Thomas Evans, Christopher Brown, John Nichols, the compiler of the famous "Literary Anecdotes of the Eighteenth Century;" also, William Bowyer and Edward Cave, the founder of The Gentleman's Magazine, edited for some time by Dr. Johnson. Mr. Robert Bowes, of Cambridge, contributes interesting chapters on "The Friends of Literature" and on a "Bookseller's Literary Club." The book contains a number of portraits and facsimiles, and should be in every bookseller's library.

DESIGNATING NET BOOKS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Permit us to suggest that the German system of designating net books be adopted in all catalogues, namely: n. before price for controlled net books, the usual discount on which is now 25 per cent., and n. n. before price for all books on which the discount is less than 25 per cent.

INDEXES WANTED IN PUBLISHERS' LISTS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Will you not be kind enough to call attention at this time, when publishers are making their annual catalogues, to the serious inconvenience caused to booksellers by the absence of title indexes in many of the lists? Two of the very largest publishers, whose heads are leaders in all good works in the matter of the net price system, omit indexes from their catalogues, each of which contains over 100 pages.

If a book without an index is a ship without a rudder, a catalogue without an index is a ship with neither rudder nor motive power; unless it be in the safe harbor of the user's exact knowledge of what he wants to find it is a useless hulk.

Here is a chance for a reform which will require no "concert." Yours truly,

LOUIS E. TURK.

TERM CATALOGUES IN UNITED STATES LIBRARIES.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: In THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, May 17, page 1134, I notice the statement, (in the item announcing Arber's reprint of the London "Term" catalogues,) that "no public library in the U. S. seems to have any of them." It may interest some of your readers to know that the Library of Congress has the following:

No. 1-24, Michaelmas term, 1674 to Trinity term, 1680. [No. 1, coll. by R. Clavel.]
[n. s.] No. 1-20, 22-51, 55-57, Michaelmas term, 1680 to Trinity term, 1695.
[n. s.] No. 1-16, 18-20, 29, Hillary term, 1695-6 to Hillary term, 1702-3.

—that is 97 of the 159 numbers of the original issue.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

END OF "LITTLE MINISTER" SUIT.

THE claim of John Arthur Fraser, suing for an injunction to restrain the performance of "The Little Minister" in this country was denied by Judges Jenkins and Grosscup on the 6th inst. in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The decision affirmed the decree of Judge Kohlsaat, who in May, 1901, dismissed an amended bill brought by Fraser against M. A. Yack, Ira A. Harris, James M. Barrie and Charles Frohman. A company was producing this play under the direction of M. Frohman.

Mr. Fraser based his claim to rights in the original manuscript on an assignment from the United States Book Company, the latter claiming them under a purchase from J. W. Lovell, of New York. Mr. Lovell in turn bases his claim to ownership on a contract dated May 8, 1890, by which the author, Mr. Barrie, assigned the exclusive right to publish the story from advance sheets in the United States. The consideration paid by Mr. Lovell was about $100.

The court held in brief that there was no possible right of copyright under the international copyright law for the first thirty-eight chapters of the book, because the author did not agree to furnish any of the advance sheets until two months prior to the completion of the serial publication in England. This opinion concludes:

"As the author had no right to copyright and as upon publication in England anyone had right to publish it in America, the author could receive nothing for the work published here except such as he might be able to obtain by allowing its publication here simultaneously with or in advance of its publication in England."

ROSTAND'S "CYRANO" ENJOINED.

EBERLY GROSS, the Chicago real estate dealer, after three years of litigation, obtained a perpetual injunction against Richard Mansfield and A. M. Palmer from producing the play "Cyrano de Bergerac," or anything similar to it, the principal scenes in which he claims originated with him. Judge Kohlsaat, of the United States Circuit Court at Chicago, entered the order for the injunction on May 21.

The court also declared that Mr. Gross is entitled to an accounting of the profits realized by the defendants in giving the play. Mr. Gross, however, waived his rights to this and accepted $1 as satisfaction. Vindication was what he wanted.

Mr. Gross's own dramatic production, "The Merchant Prince of Cornville," now has the approval of the Federal Court as the model from which Edmond Rostand, the French playwright, drew his inspiration for the balcony scene and other incidents of the play produced by Actor Mansfield. The court's order was based on the findings of Master in Chancery Elijah B. Sherman, to whom the case was referred for a report in July, 1899.

"In the opinion of the Master in Chancery," says the report, "the similarities and identities between the two plays are confirmation strong as proofs of Holy Writ in the presence of which M. Rostand's denial of both resemblance and appropriation is scarcely worthy of consideration."

Mr. Mansfield, who is at present in Denver, Col., is reported by the Associated Press to have said: "The decision of Judge Kohlsaat in the Gross suit can have no effect on the presentation of 'Cyrano de Bergerac' beyond the fact that Mr. Gross will receive royalties in the future, instead of Mr. Rostand."

Mr. Mansfield's manager said the actor had defended the suit only because of his contracts with Rostand.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM TOD HELMUTH, a famous surgeon and one of the foremost representatives of the homoeopathic school of medicine in this country, died May 15, at his home in New York City. Dr. Helmuth was born in Philadelphia, October 30, 1833. For more than twenty-five years he was one of the editors of The North American Homœopathic Journal. Among his published works are: "A Treatise on Diphtheria," "Medical Pomosity," "A System of Surgery," "Scratches of a Surgeon," "Suprapubic Lithotomy," and "With the Pousse Café," (a collection of post-prandial verses.)

ALBERT GALLATIN RIDDLE, a well-known lawyer and author and an ex-Representative from Ohio, died in Washington, D. C., May 15. He was born at Monson, Mass., May 28, 1816, but was brought up in the West. He was retained by the State Department to aid in prosecuting John H. Surratt for aiding in the murder of President Lincoln. Among his works are "Bart Ridgeley," "The Portrait," "Alice Brand," "Recollections of War Times," "Students and Lawyers," "The House of Ross," "Castle Gregory," "Hart and His Bear," "The Sugar Makers of the West Woods," "Tory's Daughter," "Mark Loan," and campaign biographies of Garfield and Benjamin F. Wade.

EDWIN LAWRENCE GODKIN, editor emeritus of the New York Evening Post, died in Brixham, South Devonshire, England, May 20. The immediate cause of his death was hemorrhage of the brain; he suffered a similar stroke two years ago, but recovered sufficiently to go to England in 1901. Mr. Godkin was born in Moyne, County Wicklow, Ireland, October 2, 1831. He was a graduate of Queen's College, Belfast, and in 1854 became correspondent of the London Daily News in Turkey and Russia during the Crimean war. In 1856 he came to this country and made a tour through the Southern States for the News. He then studied law under David Dudley Field and was admitted to the bar in 1859. After practicing for a few years he returned to Europe on account of ill health. He again came to this country in 1862, and was correspondent for the London Daily News and an editorial writer for the New York Times until July, 1865, when he established and became editor of The Nation, which in 1866 passed into the hands of Mr. Godkin, James Miller McKim and Frederick Law Olmstead as proprietors. In 1881 The Nation was made the weekly issue of the Evening Post, and Mr. Godkin became one of the editors and proprietors of the joint publication. He was the author of a "History of Hungary, A.D. 300-1850;" "Government," a volume in the American Science Series; "Reflections and Comments," a selection from his articles in The Nation; "Problems of Modern Democracy," from contributions to the magazines; and "Unforeseen Tendencies of Democracy," contributions to the Atlantic Monthly.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE A. WESSELS COMPANY will publish immediately "The Progression to Immortality," by Henry S. Brooks.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co., Chicago, are preparing "An Index to Recitations, Readings and Dialogues," by title, author and first lines.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have taken over the "Rhymes of Ironquill," by Captain Ware, the new Pension Commissioner, and will shortly bring out a new edition of the book, with a poem by James Whitcomb Riley eulogistic of Ironquill's verse.

H. W. FISHER & Co., Philadelphia, announce an attractive edition of "Our Annual Execution," "a forgotten essay, by William Makepeace Thackeray," from Frazer's Magazine, together with a critical review from the same periodical, "A Word on the Animals."

EUGENE SOMMER, formerly in charge of the book department of Lit Brothers, Philadelphia, has gone to San Francisco, Cal., where he will have charge of the book and stationery departments of The Emporium. He will be pleased to meet his old friends in the trade, and to receive the latest catalogues and price-lists.

THE AMERICAN PRESS COMPANY, Baltimore, Md., are publishing a limited edition of "Pinkney's Poems," edited, with a biographical sketch of Edward C. Pinkney, by Eugene L. Didier. There are two editions, 450 on small paper and 50 copies on large paper, each with a portrait from the original oil painting of the poet.

THE WERNER SCHOOL BOOK COMPANY announce a new volume—the ninth—in the Four Great Americans Series, edited by Dr. James Baldwin. It is by Nellie F. Kingsley, and entitled "Four American Explorers," the explorers being Captains Meriwether, Lewis and William Clark, General John C. Frémont and Dr. Elisha Kent Kane.

DREXEL BIDDLE, Philadelphia, has in preparation a Fight edition of "Physical Culture and Self-Defense," by Robert Fitzsimmons. This new edition will contain special articles upon the respective fighting qualities of Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, and it will have in addition excellent photographs of these two pugilists, and show their records and respective weights and measurements.

THE House of Representatives, on the 17th inst., adopted an amendment to the effect that "no part of the money appropriated in the naval bill under consideration shall be expended in the purchase of any history of the Spanish-American war written by Edgar Stanton Maclay for use at the Naval Academy, in ships' libraries or in any part of the naval establishment of the United States."

C. L. RICKETTS, First National Bank Building, Chicago, has just ready a volume of essays by Clarence S. Darrow, entitled "A Persian Pearl, and Other Essays," containing an "appreciative review" of Omar Khayyam, entitled "A Persian Pearl;" essays on Walt Whitman and Robert Burns; "Realism in Literature and Art," a plea to "unfetter the writer and the artist;" also "The Skeleton in the Closet." The volume is exquisitely gotten up.

JAMES H. BENTLEY, 300 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, announces a volume of verses by Ellery Channing, the last survivor of the Concord Brotherhood. Some of the poems are now published for the first time. For years Channing had lived with F. B. Sanborn, who selected and edited the poems and who contributes many notes and a biographical introduction. It will be issued in a limited edition, 300 copies of which are on "Old Stratford" paper and fifteen copies on Japan vellum paper.

The American Gentleman's Library of Standard Authors is the name Little, Brown & Co. give their list of limited subscription editions of such writers as Francis Parkman, Charles Lever, Alexandre Dumas, Captain Marryat, Samuel Lover, William Makepeace Thackeray, Daniel Webster, Edmund Burke, Lord Lytton, Alphonse Daudet, Charles Kingsley and Lord Macaulay. This library comprises nearly 300 volumes, and a handsome illustrated descriptive booklet has been prepared, a copy of which will be sent on application.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY announce "The Fool," by Wm. H. Carson, author of "Hester Blair," the scenes of which are laid in a Massachusetts fishing village, from which some of the characters shift to New York and back again. "The Fool" is really a man of parts, cultivated and possessed of legal knowledge, and possessed of considerable means, all of which he contrives, for reasons of his own, to keep from the knowledge of his neighbors, and reveals only to his dog, a canine of supernormal intelligence, with whom he holds long conversations.

FERRIS & LEACH will publish shortly a new volume by Eliza B. Chase, author of "Over the Border, pen sketches of a tour through Nova Scotia." The new volume will be entitled "In Quest of the Quaint." While still treating of Canadian corners, Miss Chase has pushed her discoveries into nooks that the railroad and steamship guide books do not make notes of, and that are not yet profaned by the "madding crowd of summer travel." They have in press Albert Cook Myers's list of "Quaker Arrivals at Philadelphia, 1682-1750," as found in the records of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends.

GEORGE ALLEN, London, announces a new edition of the collected works of Ruskin. It will be called the Library edition, and is to be edited by E. T. Cook and Alexander Wedderburn, who is one of Ruskin's literary executors. Ruskin's published works will be reprinted without exception, and there will be much matter never before issued, as also many new illustrations. Wherever the original manuscripts exist they will be compared with the printed text as Ruskin last revised it, and unpublished passages of interest and importance will be added. It is hoped also to give passages from Mr. Ruskin's letters relating to his books.

LEE & SHEPARD have in preparation the following books for girls: "A Girl of this Century," by Mary G. Darling, a continuation of "We Four Girls," with illustrations by Lilian Crawford True; "Madge, a Girl in Earnest," by Jessie Smith, with illustrations by James E. McBurney, a helpful book for older girls or young women; "In the Days of Queen Elizabeth," by Eva March Tappan, the third volume of The Makers of England Series, of which the previous volumes were on Alfred the Great and William the Conqueror; "Randy and Her Friends," by Amy Brooks, who also furnished the illustrations; "Dorothy Dainty," the first of a new series by Amy Brooks, in which lessons of neatness and good breeding will be taught as unobtrusively as possible; also, "The Little Girl Next Door," a story of true friendship, by Nina Rhoades, with illustrations by Bertha G. Davidson.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO. have in preparation two books of interest and importance by the Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, who now in his eighty-first year is living in Brooklyn, the scene of his many years of labor as a pastor. The first of these will be "Reminiscences of a Long Life." For a number of years Dr. Cuyler has been urged by his friends and admirers to publish an autobiography. This he has been unwilling to do, but now he has compromised with a volume of reminiscences. It will amount to a summing up of the more important and interesting events and incidents of his life. The book will contain sketches of his boyhood, his college life, his first trip to Europe, famous personages he met abroad and recollections and stories of famous persons in this country. His second book will be "Help and Good Cheer," a series of brief messages. Dr. Cuyler has ever been at his best in the rôle of a friend to the sorrowing and the troubled and to this day possesses all the spiritual strength and optimism which has made his life so vigorous and helpful.

WILLIAM HENRY BABCOCK, the author of "The Tower of Wye," has been having some difficulty as to the title of his new book, which will be published this spring by Henry T. Coates & Co. This story, which has recently been announced under the title of "Kent Fort Manor," has been in preparation for three years and was intended to be called "The Claibornes;" but, on the eve of its announcement, Mr. Sage's new book, "The Claybornes," was announced as in press for immediate publication. By a curious coincidence both books deal with the same period and, to some extent, with the same locality in the Chesapeake that was so intimately connected with the William Claiborne of Mr. Babcock's "The Tower of Wye." Mr. Sage and Mr. Babcock seem, each without the knowledge of the other, to have hit upon these similarities of time and place; but as "Kent Fort Manor" was begun some three years ago it, perhaps, has the priority of inception. It is safe to say that the books themselves will show little similarity, at least, in treatment.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

[B] In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

[B] Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

PUBLISHERS who safeguard crevices through which high binding bills creep, are ultimately bound to lead the procession in the onward march of progress. Just stop long enough in the whirl of your busy hours to consider the vast importance and advantage to your interests which a connection with me implies. A line to me either to call or submit samples and estimates will have the desired effect. The annual sum total I am positive I can save you in your binding account is sufficient to provide a dividend, the amount of which some of the best publishers don't earn. In spite of being your lowest bidder I will give you the highest character of work, employing only the highest priced labor, thus obtaining the best possible results. My plant and facilities are unequalled. Don't allow yourselves to be blinded by cant and misrepresentation. The constant hum of my busy plant is a sufficient answer to those who disregard the broad plane of justice and equality. Even those publishers who have their own plants find that I can do their work cheaper and better than they can produce it themselves.

Michael Davitt's History of
The BOER FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

*The Fullest, Most Graphic, Most Reliable,
Most Ardent History of the War from the Boer Side; Authoritative, Final. : : :*

Written by the Man Best Qualified

MICHAEL DAVITT, one of the most ardent of the Boer supporters, went to Africa during the heat of the early fighting to gather his material. There he became acquainted with Steyn, Botha, De la Rey, and other prominent Boer leaders, whose strong personality as well as heroic acts are vividly described by his trained journalistic pen. He gives a most graphic description of the siege of Ladysmith, the crossing of the Tugela River, the Battle of Spion Kop, General Methuen's campaign, and of the subsequent events right up to the capture of Lord Methuen and the death of Cecil Rhodes.

What the Book Contains

603 pages of original research and description, much of which is the result of Mr. Davitt's personal observation in South Africa during the war.

More than 100 illustrations of Boer generals, battles, camp scenes, etc., many of which are from photographs taken by Mr. Davitt himself.

7 maps, which localize the victories of De Wet, De la Rey, and the other great Boer generals, as clearly as tho they occurred in your own country.

A copious index by which you can instantly pick out the descriptions of your favorite heroes and trace their exploits.

The Chicago Record-Herald says: "Michael Davitt, the stormy petrel of Anglo-Irish politics, has written a book on 'The Boer Fight for Freedom,' which is to be issued soon by Funk & Wagnalls Company of New York. His book is sure to be an interesting and picturesque pro-Boer narrative of events, and will throw needed light upon the personality of the stubborn burghers."
